Chicago Working for the Democratic Convention.

Democrats are making strenuous exertions to secure the democratic national convention for Chicago, and a committee of eleven prominent citizens will start for Washington on Thursday night to present arguments.

Parnell at Wheeling—He Accepts the "Herald's" Proposition.

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb 16.—Parnell to-night announced that after considering the proposition of the New York Herald to make him one of the commissioners to distribute the Herald fund in Ireland, he had concluded to accept, provided that Bennett would allow him to appoint a proxy to serve in his stead until he, Parnell, returned to Ireland. He collected $800 here to-night.

A Big Contribution.

ST. LOUIS, Feb 16.—The Merchants' Exchange contributed to the Irish famine fund $[illegible].

Attempt of Prisoners to Escape.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Feb 16.—The prisoners in the county jail of this city made a desperate attempt to escape this evening. When [illegible] Draper and Deputy Smith went in to lock the prisoners for the night, a prisoner named Boyd, in for horse stealing, attacked [illegible] with a slung shot made of a piece of [illegible] tied in a handkerchief. The sheriff [illegible] the blows, drew a revolver and [illegible] at Boyd, but the weapon failed to [illegible] Williams, another horsethief, attempted [illegible] his companion, when the sheriff [illegible] in the leg. Deputy Smith grappled [illegible] and succeeded in securing him. The [illegible] prisoners, 15 or 20 in number, became [illegible] and were locked up without further difficulty. Williams' wound is severe [illegible] dangerous.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Shipping Interest Opposes the Geneva Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—A large number of [illegible] ship owners are here trying to defeat [illegible] Geneva award bill, and are confident that the measure cannot pass the senate.

Conkling thinks that the New York Delegation will be Instructed for Grant—The [illegible] Matter.

Senator Conkling says that he will not attend the Utica convention unless he is elected a delegate, and he has no intimation that he will be. He is sure that the convention would indorse Grant, although a desperate effort will be made to prevent it and sure that there would be some representation for other candidates.

A western paper recently published a statement that Conkling, speaking in executive session regarding the confirmation of Morton [illegible] as collector at San Francisco, and [illegible] young Morton, had made remarks [illegible] to the late Senator Morton. Conkling to-day said that such a statement was grossly false. He never, in his life uttered a word except in praise of his honored friend the late senator.

Silver Movement.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Mr Langston, U S minister to Hayti, in a dispatch to the state department reports a large importation into Hayti of Mexican silver, while American silver is received in small quantities and has become scarce, commanding a premium of 3 or 4 per cent. over Mexican coin.

The Tilden Bill of Fare.

Anti-Tilden democrats are taking fright at a new movement they think they have discovered on the part of Tilden to capture the democratic nomination. Democrats are authority for the statement that Tilden has "fixed" a formidable list of state delegations, embracing New York and all the New England states, except possibly Massachusetts, and Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Nevada and California, Kentucky, Georgia, Florida and North Carolina. These states are claimed as certain to instruct for Tilden, and in addition to them, New Jersey, Maryland, Texas and Illinois are represented as being debatable ground between various other candidates with Tilden as second choice of all. According to the same authority the programme seems to be to secure a small majority of instructed delegates depending on the custom of democratic conventions of late years which has been to concede the nomination to the majority candidate and thus overcome the operation of the two thirds rule, or in event of an evident disposition to depart from that custom and enforce the rule literally, to abrogate it altogether.

CANADA.

Remains Lying in State

Royalty Dumped

OTTAWA, Feb 16.—The Princess [illegible] and Mrs Langton were slightly injured last night by being thrown from a sleigh.

THE WAILING PONCAS

Bishop Hare Tells a Congressional Committee what he Knows about the Tribe—How it Pays to be a Fighting Siwash.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.—The senate special committee investigating the causes of the removal of the Poncas took testimony this morning from Bishop W H Hare of the Protestant Episcopal church, the missionary in charge of the Poncas and other Indians. He testified that from the time of his first personal knowledge of the Poncas in 1873 up to the date of their removal to the Indian territory they were in trouble on account of the failure of their crops by reason of drouth and grasshoppers and on account of raids and of depredations at the hands of the Sioux, and that they were anxious to be removed from Dakota. He had understood from high and reliable sources that they gave their consent to removal to the Indian territory but when the time came they were opposed to it. The negotiations having been concluded and arrangements made he thought it essential that the government having gone that far should proceed to their removal. It was then essential in order to preserve the authority of the United States among the Indian tribes of that region. The Poncas had for years been suffering from failure of crops and from incursions of the Sioux and friends of the Poncas who had long been making efforts for their welfare to have them fed and to provide means for their protection, at last concluded it would be best to remove them. He thought so himself and in view of all the circumstances although he knew he would involve hardships for the Poncas he united with Inspector Kimble in a telegram advising the department to stand firm in its determination to carry out the scheme of the Poncas removal. Bishop Hare in this connection informed the commission that he believed that the course of Inspector Kemble towards the Poncas was straightforward, honorable and philanthropic throughout. The Sioux, in making these raids upon the property of the Poncas violated the regulations against leaving their reservation, but they were a formidable tribe and the government was afraid of them and was not afraid of the Poncas.

Senator Dawes—So it appears that the government took the Poncas away to keep the Sioux from hurting them?

Bishop Hare—Yes, it may be looked at in that way. You know the Indians have a common saying, "The better we are the worse we are off." Indians who kill and steal are likely to be well provided for.

Senator Kirkwood—Is it not easier to procure appropriations for warlike than for peaceful tribes?

Bishop Hare—I understand that it is.

Senator Kirkwood said that he asked the question in order to show that congress must take part of the blame for the condition of the facts referred to.

Senator Morgan—Was the government failure to protect the Poncas due to the want of congressional appropriations?

Bishop Hare—No, I think not. The government authorities were afraid of the Sioux.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Attempted Robbery.

MADRID, Feb. 16.—A railway train from Andalusia for Madrid, carrying the government treasure chest under charge of five gen d'armes, was stopped on Sunday by brigands near Alcahar. Marshal Serrano happening to be a passenger on the train took command of the gen d'armes and fired on the bandits, who fled. One gen d'arme was wounded.

ROME, Feb 16.—The pope's encyclical against divorce insists on the eminently religious nature of marriage and exhorts bishops to urge that view upon their flocks.

Britannia Raises her Irish Relief Figures

LONDON, Feb 16.—In the house of commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote announced that the government would make an advance for Ireland of £750 000 instead of £500 000 as originally intended.

A Good Report from Ireland.

LONDON, Feb 16.—A correspondent of the Times at Dublin reports the general condition of Ireland as decidedly improved although severe distress is still felt at many places. There is reason to believe that the whole aspect of the country is improved and that the relief measures have proved adequate to the emergency.

Death of a Distinguished Surgeon

Wm Hagerty O'Leary, Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of Ireland and home rule member of parliament for Drogheda, is dead.

A Liberal Defeat.

The Daily News owns that the Southwark election was an unmistakable liberal defeat.

The Times says that the return of a conservative from Southwark is a heavy blow for the opposition and that the government is justified in regarding the battle so keenly fought as a vote of confidence more decided and more uncontestable than that at Liverpool.

Afghanistan

A dispatch from Lahore announces that orders have been sent to Candahar for the army to advance to Ghuznee early in March. Gen Roberts has sent a native envoy to Ghuzni to confer with Mahomed Jan.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.

Farley presented a memorial of the legislature of California [illegible] the completion of [illegible] sales from [illegible].

Windom, Blaine and Withers were appointed a conference committee on the disagreeing vote of the two houses on the amendments to the military academy appropriation bill.

Pending [illegible] on the bill giving a pension to Netter [illegible] the morning hour expired and consideration was resumed of the [illegible] per cent military land warrant bill.

Allison quoted authorities contemporary with the passage of the enabling acts of the states interested to prove that land warrants at that time were regarded as cash certificates. Location on scrip was held to be a sale. This was shown by the act of congress giving Mississippi five per cent of Indian reservations in that state.

Edmunds remarked that debates on the act named showed that there was a successful beginning of the operation and not a legal construction of the enabling act.

Allison said that he was showing the general intention of the acts if not the strict legal interpretation. He had heard that 5 per cent was guaranteed to Iowa as a school fund. Eighty one million dollars has been paid into the treasury for public lands in the last thirty years by people in the lower states. He believed it no waste of this money to have a small portion of it applied to the education of the people as the enabling acts intended it should be.

Pending debate the senate adjourned.

House

BILLS INTRODUCED

Richardson of South Carolina—To return to the producers of cotton the tax collected by the government which has been declared by the U S supreme court to be illegally collected.

Parsons—Admitting free of duty machinery for manufacturing cotton fabrics.

Keifer—Granting pensions to certain sailors and soldiers of the late war, who were confined in the so called confederate prisons.

House—Requesting the president to open negotiations with certain foreign governments relative to the importation of tobacco in their dominions.

Ballou—Amending statutes prohibiting the employment of convicts in the manufacture of such articles as may be brought into competition with skilled labor.

Frost—To repeal a certain section of the act of August 1871 relative to the use of marshals as supervisors at the polls and an act of 1872 on the same subject.

The morning hour having expired while bills were being introduced Weaver demanded the regular order and the speaker immediately recognized Coffroth as chairman of the committee on invalid pensions, to move to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution for a session on Wednesday night for consideration of the pension bills. This brought forth a protest from Weaver but the speaker adhered to his ruling.

Pending a vote on Coffroth's proposition Buckner moved to adjourn and the yeas and nays were called.

On motion of Bragg, senate bill for the removal of the body of the late General George Sykes from Fort Brown, Texas to West Point, passed.

Neal from committee on the District of Columbia reported a bill prohibiting the publication of lottery schemes in the district. Some opposition was shown to the bill on the ground that it discriminated against papers published in the district and on the further ground that it was in violation of the first amendment to the constitution prohibiting congress from abridging the freedom of the press. Motions to lay on the table, recommit and to adjourn were successively voted down, and the bill was finally ordered engrossed and read a third time, yeas 99, nays 84. Pending further action the house adjourned.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

A Proper Proposition.

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.—The house naval committee to-day agreed to report a joint resolution authorizing the sending of a naval vessel to carry provisions and clothing to Ireland.

Plan of a New Refunding Bill.

The sub ways and means committee have, after consultation with Secretary Sherman, drawn up a new refunding bill. It will be submitted to the full committee to-morrow, and provides for the issue of $500,000,000 3½ per cent bonds, redeemable after twenty years, and for $200,000,000 of 4 per cent bonds redeemable after five years.

The Exodus—Charges against Windom

The senate exodus committee to-day examined Green T Ruffin, a middle aged colored man from Wilson, North Carolina, and formerly the slave of ex Member of Congress Thomas Ruffin. He stated that he left North Carolina early in December and went to Indianapolis and was now "aimin' to git back. This exodus was de 'bomination ob his race."

James B Sykax, who resides near Arlington, Virginia, once a member of the Virginia legislature, stated that in the testimony which he intended to give he would charge Senator Windom with originating the exodus but as the senator was absent he requested the committee to postpone the examination until the senator could be present.

The Committee will Exonerate Ingalls.

The senate committee on elections has unanimously agreed upon a report exonerating Senator Ingalls from the charges of bribery preferred by Kansas memorialists.

THE NICARAGUA ROUTE.

Francis Morris Appeals to a Congressional Committee on Behalf of the A. & P. C. Co.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb 16.—Francis Morris, of New York appeared before the house select committee on the interoceanic ship canal and urged the claims of the American Atlantic & Pacific Canal Co to the exclusive right of constructing a ship canal by way of Lake Nicaragua. This route originated in a contract made in 1849 between the Nicaraguan government and this company which was supplemented by an additional contract made in 1857. By a later obligation on the part of the company to construct the canal this was dispensed with and a new method of effecting transit by the then existing transit company was provided. It is claimed, however, on the part of the Atlantic and Pacific Canal Co that this contract of 1857 did not abrogate the right of the company to construct a canal, but only dispensed with its obligation to do so, leaving the company still free to claim or forego their right. This view is sustained in a legal opinion given by John K. Porter of New York. Morris stated that the 102 parts into which the corporate rights of the Atlantic and Pacific Canal Co were divided are held 94 of them by himself and his associates and the remainder by the transit company and others. None of them are held abroad. The holders of those shares he says, have been for the last three years using persistent efforts to obtain recognition of their rights to construct a canal, and have a resident agent in Nicaragua prosecuting their claims before the executive of that country. They have always however encountered rival applicants from other nationalities and within the last year a concession has been absolutely made by the executive of Nicaragua to a Frenchman named Blanchet which had been defeated in the national legislature by only one vote. He expressed apprehension that without the aid of the American government the rights of the company would be violated and set at defiance. He desired such aid from the government by diplomacy or otherwise as might be deemed requisite to obtain from the Nicaraguan government its recognition of the rights conferred upon the Atlantic and Pacific Canal Company.

SALVADOR AND CENTRAL AMERICA

Destructive Fire at the Capital of Salvador—Progress of the Canal Surveys

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

PANAMA, Feb 6.—Fire was raging in the capitol of the republic of Salvador at the time of the departure of the Pacific Mail steamer from La Libertad on the 1st instant. The principal cuartel in the city and several other government buildings had been destroyed. Four thousand stands of arms, one million cartridges and much other property was consumed. No details are given.

It is said that volcanic action is again plainly apparent in the lake of Ilopango which has long been known as the crater of an extinct volcano.

Good work has been done in surveys for the canal in which much and valuable assistance has been rendered to the commission by American Engineers Colonel Totten and Gen Wright. The plans which have been carefully revised and rearranged according to additional information obtained in the survey since he w[illegible] k[illegible] will reflect American engineering skill and practical ideas as to [illegible] methods. The commission holds daily sessions and the [illegible] plans [illegible] frequently prolonged and animated. Much harmony and good feeling is maintained and although several nationalities are represented in the commission no sectional jealousies or personal rivalries are exhibited. M De Lesseps appears to be much gratified at the change apparent in public opinion in the United States since he has been on American soil, and he believes that when his statement of his work and project shall be made in full the Nicaragua and all other canal schemes will be abandoned.

THE PACIFIC COAST

CALIFORNIA

Effects of the New Chinese Bill

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb 16.—On Saturday the Pioneer Woolen Mill Co., which runs mills at Black Point and the Mission, discharged every Chinaman in their employ and propose to do without them until the constitutionality of the act is determined. Donald McLennan, president of the company states that the action was taken not out of any consideration of threats from the sand lot, but solely out of respect for the law. Hitherto the company has been paying out $16,000 per month for white labor and $5000 to its Chinese employes. The vacancies will not be filled with white labor but after finishing up what work is in the machinery both mills will be shut down until the question of the constitutionality of the law is settled. It is also understood that the jute factory at Oakland has discharged all its Chinese employes, 700 or 800, and will stop work.

The Story Denied

The directors of the Mission and Pioneer Woolen Mills deny the statement of Donald McLennan telegraphed this morning that the mills would shut down and state that the places of the Chinamen discharged will be filled by whites and work continued.

Dividend

Eureka Consolidated declares a dividend of 50 cents.

The Sand Lots

Unemployed workingmen held another meeting on the sand lot to-day, and were addressed by Mayor Kalloch who counseled moderation and warned them from taking too much stock in the utterances of men fresh from European countries who had not learned the difference between American institutions and those under which they had before lived. Kearney and others also addressed the meeting after which a procession formed and visited a number of places of business where Chinamen are employed and preferring the usual request for their discharge.

A Fatal Fire.

SAN ANTONIO, Cal, Feb 16.—On the night of Monday, the 9th of February, the house of Robert Blair situated in Long valley, Monterey county, was consumed by fire with all its contents. One boy about thirteen years old perished in the flames. Another was badly burned.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

A New Route to the Skagit.

PORT TOWNSEND, Feb 16.—The new route from Whatcom to the Skagit gold fields is being rapidly pushed forward. It will probably be open for travel about the middle of April, as the snow will hardly disappear before that time. This is called the Chilliwhack route and is found to be shorter than the Hope trail by ten miles. Passengers can reach Whatcom from this place by water in four hours, and the gold fields can then be reached entirely by land, excepting the passage across Summit lake, seven miles wide, which will be navigable at all times. Timely notice of the opening of this road will be given so that miners from California may not be induced to start earlier than necessary.

Shipping News

The steamship City of Chester left for Nanaimo to-day.

The steamer California is still overdue.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, Feb 16, 1880.

The supreme court of the state of Oregon met at 11 o'clock, A. M., full bench present.

J S Cooper resp vs John W McGrew, Ira S Townsend and J F Logan app. Appeal from Polk county. Judgment of lower court affirmed. Opinion by Boise J.

Syllabus—Where all the facts necessary to show the plaintiff's cause of an action appear in the complaint although irregularly stated, such complaint will after verdict be sufficient to support a judgment.

When a landlord leases land and reserves as rent a part of the crop the tenant cannot sell or dispose of the part so reserved, and the landlord and tenant are tenants in common in relation to such crop.

Edgar Poppleton resp vs Yamhill county app. Ordered that the order of the court of equalization of Yamhill county be affirmed. Opinion by Boise J.

Syllabus—1 A writ of review may be prosecuted to review the orders made by the board of equalization of a county correcting the assessment of an individual taxpayer.

2 Said board of equalization has power to raise the assessment of a taxpayer by adding to his assessment property owned by him which was not found or included in his assessment by the assessor.

3 If a taxpayer having a large amount of notes and mortgages, in order to escape the payment of taxes on the same borrow a small sum of money of a person residing out of the county and deposits with his creditors such notes and mortgages for the purpose of avoiding the taxes on the same, such notes are taxable in the county where such taxpayer resides and such deposit or transfer is a fraud on the revenue of the county and this competent for the board of equalization to try this question of fraud.

H H Hayden app vs Samuel Long resp. Held that the instructions complained of were improperly submitted to the consideration of the jury, and that the judgment be reversed and this case remanded to the court below for a new trial. Opinion by Prim J.

Syllabus—This court will not review the rulings of the court below on a challenge for actual bias in a juror unless all the evidence upon which that court acted is reported to this court.

H is the owner of the land through which a small stream of water runs used by him for propelling machinery. L, not being the owner of any land adjoining said stream, went above the land of H and diverted a portion thereof from its natural channel and conducted it over and across the lands of other persons to some place where it was used for irrigation and other purposes, by means of which portions thereof were wasted.

Held that such diversion was unlawful and while the instructions of the court contain a correct statement of the law as to the respective rights of riparian owners they were inapplicable to the facts developed in this case, as the diversion was made in this case by a party who was not a riparian owner.

L Elkins app vs G Farrish res. Appeal from Wasco county. Judgment of court below affirmed. Opinion by Prim J.

Syllabus—When there are several issues of fact made by the pleadings to be tried by a jury it is not error to admit any evidence, however slight, which tends to prove any fact so put in issue.

Ross N Gerrish et al resp vs John J Gerrish et al, app. Suit to quiet title. Decree of court below affirmed. Opinion by Prim J.

Syllabus—Where the will of a testatrix otherwise properly executed refers to the will of her late husband and so describes it as to leave no doubt of its identity and adopts the provisions therein contained [illegible] a part of such will and should be [illegible] in construing its provisions.

It appearing that the provisions of the will of James Gerrish are referred to and [illegible] made a part of the will of the testatrix under consideration for construction in this case, held that the children and grandchildren of the testatrix are named and provided for within the meaning of the statute.

When the statute of another state is adopted in this state we must look principally to the decisions of that state to ascertain its proper judicial construction.

The object of the statute is not to compel parents to make any beneficial provisions for their children and their descendants but to prevent the consequences of forgetfulness or oversight and to produce intestacy only when the child or the descendants of such child is unknown or forgotten and thus unintentionally omitted.

George A [illegible] app vs Edward Hirst [illegible] [illegible] held that [illegible] in this case [illegible] the proceedings and that the [illegible] Opinion by Kelly C J.

Samuel [illegible] app vs [illegible] resp. Judgment of court below reversed. Opinion by Kelly C J.

R S [illegible] et al app vs John J [illegible] resp. Suit for partition. Judgment of court below modified. Opinion by Prim J.

Benjamin Griffin app vs J [illegible] resp. Judgment of court below affirmed. Opinion by Kelly C J.

Cold weather still interferes with mining operations in Southern Oregon.

CALVINISM

Where it is and What it is Doing

[illegible]

In the former paper the subject was Calvin's character, influence and labors summed up in the opinions of his opponents and of those who were not partial to him.

I shall follow a similar mode of investigation in this paper, thereby placing the discussion upon entirely impartial ground.

In showing where Calvinism is and what it is doing, we must notice the extension of its faith over Europe.

When the Calvinistic system appeared no organization had been effected in the churches of the reformation. The necessity of it was deeply felt, and the reformers hailed the plans of Calvin with delight and thankfulness.

From the little republic of Geneva issued the principles and their illustration which gathered and organized the churches of the different nations.

In France despite the most powerful opposition the cause was widely spread. Evangelists from Geneva had penetrated everywhere. A national synod assembled in Paris in defiance of pope and king and adopted the reformed system in its three divisions of doctrine, discipline and government—all claiming to be derived from the sacred scriptures directly or by fair deduction.

Switzerland and part of Germany had adopted it. Then the Netherlands embraced it. The English reformers approved and put the doctrine of God's purpose in the heart of the thirty nine articles, but the republican principles of Calvinism did not suit the king and were not adopted.

In short all the churches of the reformation were at first Calvinistic; afterward a portion of the Lutheran churches adopted the Augsburg confession.

The attempts to complete the reformation in England were met by counter movements toward Romanism. The parties were strongly marked. The puritans adopted the whole of the Genevan system. The royalists were satisfied with rejecting some of the worst errors of Romanism. They dethroned the pope and accepted their king as head of the church. This royal rule was despotic and the attempts to enforce uniformity throughout England led to open resistance. The Puritans were finally overcome, but not until they had incorporated into the English constitution the guarantees of the dearest rights of the British people. In the fierce conflict and after its close many thousands of Puritans were driven out of England, but they carried with them the full system of the Genevan reformer and sowed the fertile seed in other lands and especially in the British colonies.

Such was the nature of the system that it opposed all ignorance as ignorance opposed it and hence its first demand was intelligence on the part of its supporters.

The school was the outcome—the common school—which should reach all classes and compel the education of the people. To provide for the higher training, academies and colleges were established.

The system in all its history could exist only in connection with culture, and it has ever led true culture or marched abreast of it.

We are now prepared to assert that the prevailing influence which exists in the most enlightened states and nations in the world, is the outgrowth of the principles explained and illustrated at Geneva.

This furnishes a part of the answer as to "where Calvanism is and what it is doing." But I must give a few illustrations, both historical and biographical.

Of the former, I have time to speak only of the great convention at Edinburgh of 1877 in which were the representatives of the Presbyterian churches from all parts of the globe and a population of several millions. Although planted in every country it is especially active and advancing wherever English speech is heard.

But this system is not confined to one denomination. The great majority of the churches of the reformation still existing have retained to this day the Calvanistic interpretation of the sacred scriptures. And its catholicity is further seen in the churches since organized—for instance the Congregational and Baptist.

I can pause only a moment in the selection of a few distinguished names to illustrate the biographical department of our theme. A brilliant galaxy appears whose light is shed upon the whole history of modern times in every part of the world, but nowhere so conspicuously as in those countries which claim the highest civilization. In France the mind rests with admiration upon the character of Coligny, immortal in his country's annals and upon Bernard Palissy occupying quite a different rank in society—the scholar, chemist and artist, one of the most renowned and successful inventors of any age.

In the Netherlands we select William the Silent whose wisdom and courage conducted the Hollanders, before his assassination, far on the way to final victory.

In crossing to the British Isles—from an innumerable host of those who have conformed most truly to the doctrines of divine grace I would select the erudite and polished poet Milton, the imaginative genius of his century Bunyan, the soldier and statesman, Cromwell, the pre-eminent philanthropist, John Howard, the unrivaled chemist Faraday.

No part of Europe presents a gallery of more illustrious portraits than Scotland. John Knox was at Geneva—a fugitive from persecution—and there, studying the system and observing its equitable workings became its firm adherent. If he did not create Scotland he at least moulded it and gave it consistency and vigor which has survived the fiercest persecution and the hottest warfare. Wherever he planted a church he also founded a school. From these institutions sprang the intelligent minds and the independent spirit of the Scottish people.

Scotchmen will accept as a representative Thomas Chalmers the scholar and philanthropist whose astronomical lectures are classics, in reading which one is at a loss to decide whether to admire more the eloquence or the erudition of the author. He placed Christian character above all other attainments. As a philanthropist he commanded the respect of the profoundest thinkers and presented Christian truth in a light which left them without excuse if they should reject it. From the height which he traveled among the stars he stooped to lowest poverty, made himself the brother of the depressed and the outcast and made them sharers in the comforts and enjoyments of Christian homes. The British isles justly claim a vast number who deserve to be placed in the gallery of worthies with Thomas Chalmers. Their walks of usefulness were as varied as they differed in characteristics and station—from the conspicuous career of the Baptist Robert Hall, the most philosophical preacher of his day, to the unostentatious labors of Mrs Raynard the authoress of "The Missing Link," whose life but just closed was the best example of the link supplied. What the Calvanist Howard was to the prisoners of Europe the Calvanist Raynard was to souls imprisoned in the dungeons of helpless want and degradation in London.

In our own country we are reminded of a host almost innumerable who have borne the same testimony to the power of these doctrines in the common walks of life and forbear to mention names except to illustrate the wide embrace of the system and the diversity of talents which it employs—as in the most distinguished theologian of the day Charles Hodge of Princeton, and the most honored and useful evangelist Dwight L Moody.

How it happens that Calvinism has become so prevalent and still maintains its influence unimpaired and is extending its dominion, is a question that can be answered only by understanding its nature and tracing it in its working within the mind and spirit of its [illegible] receivers. They only can judge of it tho they cannot explain it. But its predominant influence in modern society can no longer be questioned. They are best qualified to decide about its influence and effects as every fair minded person will admit.

Omitting much that should be said in an article like this I hasten to some remarks in conclusion.

I Calvanism is the promoter of independent thinking, speaking and publishing. It taught men to call no man master but Christ and this emancipates the mind from the dictation of opinion and power. It settled all questions after fair discussion. The party in Geneva called Liberal was opposed to the privileges which the reformer introduced but once enjoyed they were highly popular with the majority of the people.

The liberty of the press found no favor in the eyes of the self-styled Liberals. What is the use, they said, of so many printed books? We must stop this plenitude of writing and publishing. We must fetter the pen of this Calvin.

Such was the estimate of the mighty genius in the light of which statesman and scholar were glad to walk.

Imagine what would have been the state of civilization in the succeeding centuries if the Liberal party had triumphed in this controversy over the freedom of the press.

II The easy naturalization of foreigners had its origin in Geneva. To become the citizen of a foreign country was surrounded with difficulties. The Liberals step by step opposed the removal of these impediments. There were in Geneva thousands of refugees among the most useful people that any country could claim. A few brought wealth, but most were stripped of everything except high character, skill in the arts and industry—qualified to be useful and independent citizens.

The liberals declaimed against admitting them to citizenship. "They are beggars," they said, "who are come to eat our bread. They are enemies and what likelier than that they will betray Geneva to the king of France." The party were the fathers of the knownothings of our country. They kept agitating the question. They denounced the strangers as the scum of Europe, who are possessing themselves of our heritage. But Geneva had no better citizens than they—none more ready to risk their lives in her defense.

The petition of the liberals against the admission of foreigners being defeated they formed a conspiracy to drive out or destroy all foreigners, which resulted in the punishment of the seditious and the establishment of the principle of universal brotherhood, which was engrafted into the constitution of the United States.

III The principle of settling national disputes by arbitration had its origin in Geneva. Calvin condemned war. He most earnestly opposed a conspiracy which was forming among Protestants in France. "Better," said he, "We should all perish a hundred times than be the cause of exposing the gospel to such a disgrace." He refused to allow his evangelists to preach in churches and cathedrals which had been taken from the Romanists by violence. "The gospel," said he, "must be propagated by evangelists, martyrs, churches and schools." These were the weapons with which he carried on the holy war.

A synod committed to free speech was the mode for settling all disputes. He urged it upon the Protestants of other countries, and the principle once fairly applied would banish war from every Christian land.

IV Separation of church and state was first clearly defined in Geneva. Calvin denied any power in the state to enforce a creed or ritual upon a church. It was fatal to liberty of conscience as the supremacy of the church is fatal to civil freedom. He instanced the church of Rome.

He taught that each was independent in its own sphere, yet reciprocally beneficial. The civil and religious liberties of Great Britain and America can be traced by indisputable reasoning to this common source, and in a qualified sense this will apply to the most enlightened countries of Europe.

Knox, who had spent some time in Geneva, greatly admired the system and its workings. Returning to Scotland he extended it over the kingdom and strengthened the Protestants, who sought to spread it throughout England. His conflict with the queen, in which he rebuked her usurpations and immoralities, excited the ire of royalty but gave vigor to the advocates of constitutional liberty throughout Christianity.

His mantle fell on the shoulders of Andrew Melville, who proved himself the hero of the crisis which King James had created. Melville did not hesitate to assign his name to the assembly's remonstrance against the king's exercise of arbitrary power, and his famous utterance, "We dare," is equal to the best brevities known to history. Their independent spirit was inherited by all Scotchmen.

One of these, Rutherford, has thus set forth the limitations of kingly prerogative in "Lex Rex": "If all men be born equally free, there is no reason in nature why one man should be king and lord over another. But God never appointed an absolute king. The power to create a man a king is from the people. There is no title on earth to the crowns to families but only the suffrage of the people.

The parliament are as essentially judges as the king, and I see not what privileges nobles have above commons in a court of parliament." Others of like spirit could be quoted in abundance. The harvest of such seed was reaped first when Scots signed the "Solemn League and Covenant" with their blood, a stream that flowed into England and vitalized the energies of the Puritans and led through scenes of civil warfare to the tranquil revolution of 1688. Thus the seed was blown across the Tweed and then across the Atlantic. The soil of the world was waiting for it. The seed time dawned upon weary nations and the germs planted in Swiss valleys were wafted to distant countries and betoken more abundant harvests.

In government Calvanism is the spirit of liberty regulated by law and reduced to just and benevolent action.

In philosophy and literature Calvanism is the liberator of the mind and the promoter of institutions of learning of every grade.

In the inductive sciences Calvanism enters into the spirit of all modern progress.

The system of the universe is the visible expression of the invisible God who reigns over it all and in it all.

Its creed enthrones God and yet brings him into communion with man, who is thereby ennobled. Princes and magnates sink as the soul rises into the certainties of covenant mercy and the embrace of fatherly love. The assurances which the system imparts entertained by faith and applied in practice explain much of the mystery which gathers around the sovereignty of God and the free agency of man.

From what it is and what it is doing we may infer what it will do. We have seen it standing in the forefront of the reformation. It has struck down the chivalry of Europe wherever it has met it and made the name Huguenot, Covenanter, Puritan—tingle in the ears of its enemies. It has reared citadels of defense which have beaten off all assailants.

It strengthened heart and nerve of the Pilgrims whose descendants are now trying to raise up that which was the abomination of their fathers.

It gave the unconquerable valor to Coligny, the amazing moral courage to Knox and Melville. It made Cromwell and his ironside regiment the terror of kings and oppressors.

Calvinism [illegible] the mother and daughter [illegible] new massacre when thousands [illegible] were put to death with cruel tortures and [illegible] endurance of piercing poverty by families of the two thousand [illegible] England who would not submit to the king's arbitrary decree.

Calvanism chartered the Mayflower. Calvanism laid the foundation of Harvard college and endowed it with funds now perverted by children who deride the hopes of the founders. It has made philanthropists without number, founded asylums for the relief of every species of suffering, schools free to all—the fountains of intelligence and virtue. It has sent missionaries to every land who have penetrated the habitations of cruelty and degradation while the cultured priests of liberal Christianity have been dreaming and philosophizing in gentle sensibility and dilettantic ease.

What Calvanism did at Geneva it is doing for the world. It is the animating spirit in all theology, the supreme knowledge. It is the complete symmetrical embodiment of revealed truth of which all other creeds are offshoots or negations.

Whole generations of critics who thought they had demolished it have passed away but in the language of Matthew Arnold the Oxford professor, "It still lives, rigid, militant and menacing."

It is living a more vigorous life than ever. It cannot die because it lives in redeemed souls, and of whose creed James Anthony Froude declares that it "has borne ever an inflexible front to illusion and mendacity and has preferred rather to be ground to powder like flint than to bend before violence or melt under enervating temptation."

And of whose representative men he adds that they were "possessed of all the qualities which give nobility and grandeur to human nature—men whose life was as upright as their intellect was commanding, and their public aims untainted with selfishness, unalterably just where duty required them to be stern, but with the tenderness of a woman in their hearts, frank, true, cheerful, humorous, as unlike sour fanatics as it is possible to imagine any one, and able in some way to sound the key note to which every brave and faithful heart in Europe instinctively vibrated."

Calvinism still survives. It is destined to conquer the world. It will live for ever.

COWLITZ RIVER SURVEY.

Col. Gillespie Recommends that Congress Make an Appropriation of $5000 for the Improvement of that Stream.

Direct Commercial Benefits to Portland of the Development of that Section.

Official Report of R. A. Habersham Concerning the Improvement of Cowlitz River.

The trade of the Cowlitz river country, if properly developed by the improvement of the Cowlitz river, thus creating new facilities for settlements and market, would be an important adjunct of the general commerce of Portland.

Colonel Gillespie's report, recently issued, contains recommendations to the chief engineer, which if adopted will undoubtedly greatly improve the navigation of the river and afford its people especially in those localities not touched by the Northern Pacific railroad a much needed outlet to market. Colonel Gillespie reports that an examination has been made particularly for the purpose of ascertaining the feasibility of improving the Cowlitz river by removing snags, etc.

He reports that the "Cowlitz is quite an important little river, and the country it drains is rapidly filling up with a thrifty and industrious population. The two river steamers which do the carrying trade for the river have brought out this year a larger amount of produce than ever before, and it is expected that the yield next year will be still larger. The sum of $5000 will remove all the important snags which obstruct the navigation of the river as high up as Cowlitz Landing, 40 miles from the mouth, and will provide ample means for surveying in detail all the shoal bars. The improvement indicated in the report of Assistant Engineer Habersham is a very worthy one, and I would recommend that the sum of $5000 be appropriated for carrying it out during the next fiscal year."

Report of R. A. Habersham.

The following is the official report of Mr. R. A. Habersham, in regard to the improvement of the Cowlitz river. It was on Mr. Habersham's report that Col Gillespie's recommendation was based:

UNITED STATES ENGINEER OFFICE,
PORTLAND, OREGON, December 12 1879.

Colonel: I have the honor to submit the accompanying map of the Cowlitz river, in Washington territory, and of the country through which it flows. Its value as a navigable stream, and the necessity for removal of the principal obstructions, will appear from the data given below, obtained by an examination made in pursuance of your letter of instructions of the 15th of November, current year.

The Cowlitz river rises in the heart of the Cascade mountains, in longitude 121° 50' west, latitude 46° 30' north, on the south watershed of Mt. Ranier, flowing due west for 60 miles, then south for 30 miles, entering the Columbia 60 miles above Astoria, 5 miles below Kalama, the southern terminus of the Northern Pacific railroad in Washington territory, and 45 miles from Portland. It is navigable at its lowest stage, with a least depth of 2½ feet on the bars to Cowlitz landing, 40 miles from its mouth, during higher stages 5 miles farther, 1¼ miles above Eaton's ferry. The bar at its mouth has 7 feet depth at low tide. Just above the depth is reduced to 3½ feet by heavy drift in the channel. From the mouth to Black's bar, the head of the tidal section, a distance of 9 miles, the width of the river averages 500 feet. Above this, to the head of navigation, 250 feet. The bed of the navigable portion of the river is principally composed of large pebbles of volcanic rocks varying from dense black basalt to pumice, some of the latter so light as to float. The banks are from 5 to 20 feet high, steep and in some places vertical.

The valley of the Cowlitz is fertile, generally covered with forests of fine timber, principally fir and cedar. There are several fine tracts of prairie land and numerous rich coal veins as yet undeveloped. The Northern Pacific Railroad is built along the east or left bank of the river for 20 miles, crossing at the mouth of Pumphrey's creek. There are two annual seasons of high water, one occurring during the winter and caused by rains, the other in June or July, due to the melting of the snows in the Cascade mountains. The bottom of the girders of the railroad bridge at Pumphrey's is 45½ feet above low water mark and 17¼ feet above high water of June, 1876, the highest on record. Steamboats can pass under the bridge when the water is not more than 10 feet above low water mark.

The most important place on the river is Freeport, formerly Monticello, 3½ miles from its mouth. It has a population of 300, with two stores doing a general merchandise business. There are 55 families residing in and around the town. The population of the Cowlitz valley has increased 50 per cent. within the last five years.

The area under cultivation along the river banks is 26,000 acres. The exports are lumber, shingles, cattle, hogs, grain, vegetables, and general farm and dairy produce. During the last year 11,000 passengers and 15 000 tons of freight were transported by the two steamboats, which run regularly, making daily trips on the river.

The obstructions to navigation are Black's bar, Huntington's bar, Bartoe Rapids, Shappelier rapids, Pumphrey's bar, Gravel rapids, and Cluckey's bar, besides another bar to which no name has been given, and numerous snags and drift piles at various points but principally on the bars and rapids. The number of snags to be removed is nearly 300. The sum appropriated for this examination was not sufficient to enable an instrumental survey of the bars to be made. They are in a great measure due to the accumulation of drift wood, the removal of which would probably cause several of them to disappear altogether, and would certainly produce such changes in the condition of the channel generally as to render necessary a later survey of the bars before projecting any plan for their improvement. At present those interested in the navigation of this stream ask only that the obstructing drift which reduces the available depth of water by one-half be removed. This would occupy the snag boat three months at a monthly cost for running expenses of $800. Surveys of the bars after removing the drift will cost $600. I am indebted to Capt. Joseph Kellogg, owner of the Cowlitz river steamers, for the information concerning freight and passenger carriage during the last year and for other statistics. Respectfully submitted,

ROBT. A. HABERSHAM, Ass't Engineer.

TUESDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1880.

COST OF THE SCHOOLS.

Last summer, just prior to the general election in California, the republican convention of the city and county of San Francisco made various pledges of retrenchment and reform. Among these pledges was one in regard to the public schools. Recognizing the fact that too cumbrous and expensive a system had grown up, a pledge was given to bring about such retrenchment as would effect a reduction of the cost of the schools to $25 a scholar for each year. On this pledge the republicans elected nine of the twelve directors. At the beginning of the present year it was proposed to adopt means of putting this pledge in force. Of course it was resisted by the city superintendent, professors, principals and teachers. But at a meeting of the directors held on the 12th January a resolution was adopted to stand by the pledge and enforce it. In pursuance of this purpose it has been decided to cut off superfluities, to reduce salaries, to pay less to janitors, to dismiss special teachers of music and drawing, and in general to lop off the costly extras which have been added to the schools, increasing their expense but not their efficiency. By carrying out the resolution of the board of directors there will be effected a reduction of $5 a scholar, as the expense of maintaining the schools of San Francisco was about $30 a scholar for last year. In the city of New York the cost is $20 81 and in St. Louis $26 75.

By reference to the report submitted at the annual school meeting last March, we find that the actual cash outlay on account of the schools of Portland for the preceding eleven months was $79,902 71. This would give an expenditure of $47 19 per scholar. It is said, however, that much of this expense was on account of the new Park street building and payments on real estate. But it may be answered to this that the growth of the schools will make extra expenditures like these necessary almost every year. But deduct the $13,631 55 on account of the Park street building, and $12,100 on account of payments on block 228, and we have the sum of $25,-[illegible] 55 to be taken from $79,902 71. This leaves a balance of expenditure for actual support of the schools of $54,111 16. Average attendance through the year was 1693. Figured on this basis, the cost per scholar would still be $31 96 for the year. This is still in excess of the cost per scholar in San Francisco, which has been so high as to compel the adoption of measures of retrenchment.

[illegible] cities of the size and class of our own support their schools at much less cost than we do. Galesburg, Ill., expends $13 59 per scholar; Bloomington, Ill., $15 54; Peoria, Ill., $15 58; Leavenworth, Kan., $15 59; Davenport, Iowa, $21 30; Springfield, Mass., $[illegible]; Omaha, Neb., $24 11; Elmira, N. Y., $[illegible]; Columbus, Ohio, $22 09; Erie, Pa., $[illegible]. These figures are taken from the report of the commissioner of education for [illegible]. Taken in connection with those of the San Francisco schools, above presented, they [illegible] to demonstrate the entire practicability of reducing the cost of the schools of Portland.

It is very certain that to meet the debts of the district and to keep up current expenses upon the same system as heretofore, the taxpayers of Portland for the coming school year will be called on for a heavier levy than they have ever hitherto paid. The whole business is certainly reaching a point where it ought to be looked into. It is time it were considered in the spirit which has prompted the [illegible] on the part of the school board of San Francisco to effect a retrenchment in the expenses of that city.

THE DE LESSEPS CANAL.

The De Lesseps' Panama canal scheme has been causing considerable stir in Washington. The senate has been discussing it with a view to its relations to the Monroe doctrine. A select committee of the house has also been considering it, which body is reported to have [illegible] vehemently in favor of preventing the construction of the canal, if it is to be constructed on conditions that would place it in control under European governments. The argument is that we should inevitably within a few years come in collision and [illegible] with the vast interests which would be centered in such a canal. The chief basis of our objection to construction of the canal on the De Lesseps plan is that our interest in any water way which shall unite the Atlantic with the Pacific is transcendently superior in importance to that of all other nations put together. It has been well said, in connection with this assertion, that the commerce of the rivers emptying into the Mexican gulf and the Caribbean sea is of an [illegible] greater than that of all the rivers emptying from Europe into the Atlantic and of all those emptying into the Mediterranean and into the Indian ocean, and that the valleys of these American rivers are those of different productive zones. Any canal that crosses the isthmus will be traversed by our commerce in the ratio of two American ships to one belonging to the rest of the world. Even De Lesseps' French congress, set up to push through at all hazards and in defiance of decency a private French scheme, confessed this. The report of the committee on statistics of the congress gave the tonnage likely to pass through a canal as follows: That of the United States 3,000,000 tons; of Great Britain, 1,350,000 tons; of France, 356,000 tons; of all other nations, 356,000 tons. This of course is based largely upon conjecture, and is more than likely an under estimate. At any rate it makes no allowance for the highly important fact that American commerce through such a canal would be certain to increase, year by year, with far greater rapidity than that of any other country. For example, the entire surplus grain crop of our Pacific coast would be able, in the event of the existence of a canal, to find in Europe a market by a route far shorter than that now taken. The traffic between our east and west coasts, and between our Atlantic coasts and the west coast of South America, to say nothing of our trade with China and Japan, would be vast and constantly expanding. Such a canal, then, would have us for its best customers, and it is manifestly a matter of the very highest importance to the American people either that we should have a controlling interest in it or that it should be placed upon such a basis that the owners could never threaten our interests in any manner.

NOT A CANDIDATE.

Washburne, it is announced, and announced upon authority, will not be a candidate. He is for Grant, and believes Grant will be nominated. As a friend and supporter of the ex-president he utterly disclaims all thought of being a candidate himself. This is what it is prudent for him to say, and for his friends to say about him. Of course he not a candidate now. The "dark horse" is never a candidate. It is a good while yet till June, and the place of the dark horse for some time to come is in the stable with a blanket on. But experts nevertheless turn their eyes towards him as he stands quietly in his stall. They are taking down his "points," and making a note of them in their books, and here are some of the points written down about Washburne.

He has a long public record which is unimpeachable. In his congressional life he earned the title of "watch dog of the treasury." He was never smirched with credit mobilierism, or defiled with any of the pitch that stuck to almost every other of the "statesmen" of that reckless, prosperous, corrupt period that immediately succeeded the war. He has never been a demagogue. As minister to Paris in 1870, he was able to render great service to the Germans whom the Franco German war caught on French soil; and he rendered that service in a way that could give France no offense. He is sound on the financial question. His record on that from the first agitation of the subject has been in favor of the honest dollar. Further, after the Grant boom is over he is likely to be the candidate of a large part of Grant's friends, who will be disinclined to support either of the candidates against whom they are now making active efforts.

Of course there may be other dark horses, but Washburne seems to be in a position which is likely to make him "easily the first." His emphatic declination in favor of Grant, telegraphed all over the country, does not take him out of the list. On the contrary it keeps him in a position to make the most of an opportunity, should it come.

In a review of Edison's new electric light the Penn Monthly concludes that the only objection made to it, which at this point is incapable of answer, is the assertion that the apparatus cannot be made to pay. There is great loss of power in the production of the light, for which as yet no adequate compensation has been found. An objection comes from London, to the effect that the electric light is ghastly and unpleasant, and that unless some modification of the coloring of the glass in the globe is possible, no one will endure it. While this is true enough of other electric lights, it is not of Edison's. We are told that when Albert Hall in London was lighted by Siemen's electric lamp, the ladies, after one experiment, refused to expose their beauty to a light under which every complexion became hideous. But the effect of Edison's light is so similar to that of gas that unless attention were called to it, a person might suppose it to be gas light of extra brilliancy and power.

The session of congress continues tame beyond all precedent. Still the democratic politician is forced to wear a muzzle; he can't speak out on any subject lest he betray the real instincts and purposes of his party, and so spoil all democratic prospects for the coming presidential election. It is necessary for him to pretend to a political moderation and other patriotic virtues which he does not possess, and he hopes to beguile the country into forgetfulness of his Bourbon vehemence and confederate impetuosity during the extra session. He will therefore discuss nothing now, and congress is about as dull and dismal as an Oregon fair in a rainstorm. But should this now cautious politician find his party successful in November next, he would then unmuzzle, and we should have the concert reopened where it was broken off by the warning which fell upon his astounded ears when the result of the elections upon the issues of the last session was announced.

The New York World, leading democratic organ of the country, admits that the present congress, by the peculiar composition of its numerical majority, is essentially a southern congress, but claims great credit for that majority because it has not exerted a sectional pressure upon national legislation. There is a difference of opinion upon this point. The impression prevails at the north that the sectional pressure was pretty strong at the extra session, and would again be manifested but for the result of the fall elections.

The New York Evening Post, which has steadily resisted the pretense that Grant is the only man for the presidency, or that he or any other man is in any way necessary to the country holds that the opinion that "a successful soldier is not fitted by his military talents or his military services to be a civil administrator, and rather the reverse, is as well established as any truth in political philosophy."

Throughout the entire campaign of 1876 the republicans were on the defensive by reason of the bad odor which surrounded the Grant administration, and saved themselves only by the skin of the teeth. Should he be nominated this year it will be easy to forecast the kind of canvass we shall have. From first to last the republicans will be on the defensive.

In common with all other intelligent newspapers of the country the New York Times demands revision of the tariff, and instances the duty on steel rails as one calling loudly for reduction. It says it is "a most unjustifiable pretension that the whole country should be taxed to give a man so extraordinary to any industry."

Information from Washington is to the effect that the appointment of Gen. Ben. Simpson to the postal agency was secured through the influence of Hon. Geo. H. Williams, who visited the postoffice department and made a request that the appointment, which had been pending there for a considerable time, be made.

In answer to an inquiry from Turner Station, we state that the bill to increase the salary of the president of the United States from $25,000 to $50,000 was passed just before the close of Grant's first term. At the beginning of his second term Grant began to draw the increased salary.

King of the Blood

Cures all Scrofulous affections and disorders resulting from Impurity of the blood. It is needless to specify all, as the sufferer can usually perceive their cause; but Salt Rheum, Pimples, Ulcers, Tumors, Goitre, Swellings, &c., are the most common, as well as many affections of the Heart, Head, Liver and Stomach.

SCROFULA.

Wonderful Cure of Blindness.

D. RANSOM, SON & CO.: For the benefit of all troubled with Scrofula or Impure Blood in their systems, I hereby recommend King of the Blood. I have been troubled with Scrofula for the past ten years, which so affected my eyes that I was completely blind for six months. I was recommended to try King of the Blood, which has proved a great blessing to me, as it has completely cured me, and I cheerfully recommend it to all troubled as I have been. Yours truly,

CITY.

Additional local news on fourth page

IN THE INTERESTS OF HUMANITY.—The attendance of all good citizens is desired at the meeting at Y M C A hall at 8 o'clock to-night to further the passage of laws for the protection of animals. It is expected that the entire clergy of the city will be present to participate in the noble work. Musical selections will be rendered by Mrs J A Cruzan, Mrs O B Bird, Miss Georgie Cooper, Mr F [illegible] Boyler and other well known musicians. A special invitation is extended to the ladies of Portland to participate in the meeting and in the work.

RAISING BLOODED STOCK.—Col. David Taggart, of Northumberland Pa., who is so well known in military circles here, is now engaged in rearing blooded stock on his farm in the old Keystone state. From the N[illegible] and Public Press of January 31 it is learned that Col Taggart is ex president of the Pennsylvania Agricultural society and that he has recently written a long article for the American Agriculturist in which he relates his somewhat remarkably successful experience with Jersey cattle.

DR. HARVEY'S LECTURE.—By advertisement in another column it will be seen that the next lecture in the course on Social Science will be given at the chapel of the Unitarian church to-morrow evening. The occasion of Dr Harvey's first lecture drew a large audience and his second topic "The Social Condition of the American Races" will no doubt be listened to with equal interest. There will be the usual musical exercises before and after the lecture.

AGROUND.—The Astorian of Saturday last, says: "Coming down with a tow on the 13th, Capt. Strang ran on the bar off Tongue point. Capt. Pease was on the opposite side of the channel with the Oklahoma in tow of the Oklahama bound out, and he ran aground at the same time. Capt. Billy Smith says that there is the channel, but that Strang's steamer struck the bar over and struck them, one of the most surprising events on record."

HELD TO ANSWER

Jack Williams Bound over to Await the Action of the Grand Jury on a Charge of Robbery

[illegible] examination of Jack Williams, charged with assaulting James Luttrell last summer and robbing him of about $400 came up before Justice Wiley yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The state was represented by C A Petrain and Judge [illegible] appeared for the defendant. Several witnesses were examined in behalf of the state including the prosecuting witness Luttrell. The testimony of Luttrell was very conclusive. He stated that he knew Williams by sight; that he first met him last summer about the last of August or first of September. He did not know his name; heard some one call him Scotty. Luttrell came up from San Francisco on the steamer State of California and stopped at the Globe hotel. There he met Williams for the first time, who had a pal. Witness did not know his name either. Luttrell had about $400 which he brought up from San Francisco. He occupied room No 42 at the Globe hotel and Williams and his companion occupied room No 44. They were in his room several times, came in and drank with him and by some means found out that he had money. After he had been at the hotel several days Williams proposed one evening that they go out to the Gambrinus brewery and have some beer. Luttrell consented and the three men started. They went up B street and then kept on until the woods in the western portion of the city were reached. Luttrell began to suspect that something was wrong from their actions. He stopped and told them that they were not going to the brewery. Williams' companion remarked "Yes we are going there." Reassured Luttrell proceeded. Presently they struck a road leading south—in the direction of the brewery. Luttrell became more suspicious as they went on. He watched both men closely and took from his pocket a small pen knife, the only weapon he had at the time. He opened the knife and held it in his right hand so as to be able to make some sort of defense if they should assault him. This movement was observed by Williams who a moment later took out a pipe and asked Luttrell if he had some tobacco. He replied in the affirmative and putting his left hand into his coat pocket drew out a piece of tobacco which he passed over to Williams. He took it and said "Let me have your knife." Luttrell handed him the knife as requested. No sooner was that done than Williams stepped behind him and throwing his left arm around Luttrell's neck drew him back and held him powerless. Williams sung out to his companion who was several yards in advance, "Quick, there." The fellow rushed up and struck Luttrell several tremendous blows on the breast which knocked him senseless. The garroters then took off his belt which contained the money and made off. While they were taking off the belt Luttrell recovered sufficiently to exclaim "You can take the money boys but don't take my life." One of the men then kicked him violently in the side which stunned him for some time. When he recovered he was alone. As soon as he was able to walk, he came to police headquarters and reported what had occurred. Search was made for the garroters, but before they could be found both took passage on the steamer California and sailed for Sitka. Luttrell identified Williams as one of the men who robbed him. He told a very straight, reasonable story, and there can scarcely be a doubt but that it is true.

Several other witnesses were examined whose evidence all went to prove the guilt of the defendant.

Justice Wiley held Williams to await the action of the grand jury on the charge and in default he was committed to the county jail.

THERE IS SORROW ON THE DEEP.

The following addressed to Chaplain Stubbs was received yesterday (16th inst), from Rev N H Harriman, of Brookline Mass, brother of Capt H D Harriman of the ship Wildwood so well known to many of our citizens:

"My Dear Brother—Capt H D Harriman came by steam from England in the early part of November much shattered in health though in a hopeful condition—as we all fondly hoped to last a long time. He gave up his ship to [illegible] her and retired to his new and very pleasant home in Belfast Maine to recuperate as we thought—but, really to die. * * * That he was a man of uncommon mental endowments I am sure; that he had a warm and generous heart I have the best of reason for knowing and that he was a christian I firmly believe. * * *

My brother loved truth, he reverenced God as he saw him. He hated cant, he abhorred pretention. * * * By letter I learned that his disease had made alarming developments. On Jan 19th he became insensible. On Friday the following sad telegram came to me: 'He is sinking.' I hastened to his bedside, but on my arrival he had been dead fifteen hours. He passed off very quietly, insensible most of the time after Thursday and left no message. All his affairs were most carefully arranged, and remarks quoted to me showed that he knew better than his friends did how sick he was. * * * Heaven rest his great and weary soul."

P S.—Mrs Harriman is not in very good health.

ANOTHER SAD CASUALTY.

From the ship Cantoch, Feb. 14, Astoria: My Dear Friend and Brother: I am sorry to inform you of the sad accident we have had to one of the new hands we shipped in Portland. He was an ordinary seaman. His name, James Matthews. He was aloft at the fore-royal-mast-head reeving a line to send up the royal yard, when some how or other he slipped and fell. In his descent he struck the topsail yard, thence he fell on the main rail, and went over the side. The steamer was at once stopped and a boat was lowered away to go to his rescue but he could not be found. It is almost certain he was killed before he fell into the water as he was not seen to rise after he fell into the water.

PORTLAND BETHEL ITEMS

The Bethel services on board the beautiful American ship Eliza McNeil were fully attended; several ladies were present and contributed to the interest of the meeting. Captain Morton and his gentlemanly officers made very pleasant arrangements for the convenience of the worshippers present.

This vessel is rapidly loading and will leave in a few days for Astoria to complete her cargo of wheat for Europe.

INTERESTING SABBATH SERVICES.—In Bethel hall, after the preaching by the chaplain not less than six persons, mostly seamen publicly expressed their desire to enter upon a new life and at the second meeting nearly 40 persons remained to unite in the prayer service.

BETHEL HOME LODGE No 1, I O G T.—At the meeting of this young lodge last night six new candidates were initiated. A steady and healthy growth has thus far attended the labors of this lodge to advance the interests of temperance.

MEN, WOMEN AND JUSTICE

The Pr[illegible] Ordinance [illegible] W[illegible] Offenders [illegible] the Cause [illegible]

[illegible] few persons who [illegible] women [illegible] These restrictions [illegible] to appear in the streets [illegible] their doors and wind [illegible] This remarkable ordinance was laid over [illegible] at large were outraged with the [illegible] since the law of the Jewish [illegible] wisdom as [illegible] glory [illegible] appreciated unless an [illegible] ordinance be passed providing for a brass ring to be worn in the nose [illegible] this [illegible] among his fellow citizens. Truly the people of Portland ought to be proud.

To create a sensation by [illegible] ridiculous or cruel or unjust is not a great achievement. Any ignorant fellow can do that.

The common law of this country gives the freedom of the [illegible] outside world [illegible] especially [illegible] to every individual who is not in the hands of the law as a criminal. Even in [illegible] country where [illegible] liberty is [illegible] the liberty of every one in all classes of society is guaranteed. While our business men are equal if not superior to any in the United States while our city is rapidly increasing in wealth and [illegible] and [illegible] while our citizens [illegible] comfortable contented and [illegible] it would be a great hardship if by [illegible] legislation on the part of those who have been selected to conduct our corporate affairs we should be thrown back a hundred years behind the present progressive age and be made a jest of by intelligent men.

Yet this seems to be what we are about to realize. To undertake at this time to point out all the points of law and justice connected with the case before us would be idle because those who have not been educated in a logical school or rather those who have not truth and justice in their minds from a system of education could not or would not now be convinced that they were in error.

What the people should fear most is ignorance. It would seem that while we have been attending to our wealth we have neglected our brains. We believed in our simplicity that any Tom Dick or Harry would answer well enough as a member of our common council. Now we know better. Now we understand that if we are to go ahead in law as well as materially, our guides and our lawmakers must be possessed of the very best capacity in an intellectual point of view. There is no doubt of the excellence of our present councilmen as worthy citizens but this act has let an ugly cat out of the council bag, and truth requires that the cause be made known. We must give more attention in future to intelligence. We should elect men who can think and design and direct others in that which is most conducive to the well being and happiness of the people at large. We should learn to understand what is meant by liberty. We must find out and bring to the front those men who are competent to attend to jurisprudence while we are looking after the wealth and business of the country.

Let me here write in my own words a page of the world's history. A young man who had rich and powerful friends graduated at a university. His prospects were immense, his studies and their results extensive. He was acquainted with the differential calculus, the higher curves in geometry and all the intricacies of mathematics proper. He knew the systems of reasoning pursued by Bacon and Hobbes, and Descartes and Malebranche and Spinoza and Locke, and Berkeley and Kant and many others in the same order. Physical science was as familiar to him as the pictures on the walls of his room. Jurisprudence and medicine were mere toys with him. He was great among men.

This young man observed one day the beauty of a poor girl who was walking along the street on her way to the workshop where she earned her bread. Her simplicity as well as her comeliness attracted him. He procured an introduction to her and then consulted with himself how he could make her subservient to his pleasure. It was idle to think that he could marry her; his friends would never consent to such an arrangement.

The girl knew nothing but to be virtuous and a knowledge of such labor as enabled her to procure a means of living, yet she resisted the propositions of the young man. The fight between the powers on both sides continued. The odds were too many; the powers unevenly adjusted. The girl after a long long struggle finally fell. Then the people threw up their hands in astonishment because this poor girl in her ignorance did not overcome the learning and the strategy of the man. They said "What a wretch this girl is."

Business brought the man to another part of the country. His acquaintance with the poor girl was known only to a few and these, as we have said, believed all the guilt to have been on her side. In the new field he was welcomed by his friends. He was courted, flattered, praised. The great men of the times came to visit him in his splendid house. They said, "This is so good a man that we shall elect him to the senate," and they did.

On the other hand the girl was abandoned by everybody. Her few poor friends following public opinion, sent her away, without a hope or a word of advice or money, or anything—a poor, weak being to encounter the storms of life. The two things which she ever knew—virtue and labor—had been taken from her. Ignorant people told her the rest, pointed out the road she was to go in sorrow, in misery and in degradation. What could she do? She knew no better. She went and hid herself in a distant city.

Now that she has been identified with many others of a similar history, what does the city council of Portland propose to do about it? Rectify the injustice? Oh! no. It proposes to follow up this one sided man justice to the bitter end. These fallen girls must not look upon the face of the sun except from behind a window blind. They shall not go out into the open air to be seen by men lest the poor fellows should fall into sin. Mark the powers on both sides here also. The council on its side has the law, or if not it will make one to suit its purpose; it has the police, the bench, the bar, the pulpit and society. On the other side nothing with the exception perhaps of that animal instinct which will turn and resist the tormentor as far as possible. I had almost forgotten. Sleeping justice is on the other side.

It is worthy of note in this connection that certain ministers of religion in Portland have petitioned the council to enforce the ordinance alluded to above. This is a new and a terrible revelation. It is equivalent to saying that the preaching and the prayers of these gentlemen have had no good effect on the domain of the social evil and that they are obliged to call upon the old means punishment in order that they may see accomplished what the people pay them to perform—the cultivation of morality. This was a most unwise action. It will prove to the people as plainly as if it were written on the sky the worthlessness of such churchmen in the conversion of sinners. It will prove that they do not possess the Spirit of the Great Master they pretend to follow. He never preached punishment but mercy and reconciliation and forgiveness.

Let me enunciate a postulate: Man is active; woman is passive. And again: Man is primary; woman is secondary; therefore man is responsible; woman is irresponsible. Hence again man should be the party against whom the law should be directed in offenses of the social evil; woman should go free.

The number of the demi monde in Portland only proves that the multitude of men addicted to the spread of the social evil in this city is very great.

Reform men and women will reform themselves. Wherever men are honorable a corresponding number of women will be honorable; wherever they are degraded women will be degraded likewise. They are in the same category as the earth and the moon [illegible] the great way [illegible]

[illegible] way can we [illegible] anything we may undertake [illegible] in connection with the welfare of the people.

NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION

This scientific body organized about a year ago and which is best known to the Portland public as having conducted the lectures of Mr Muir and the microscopical reunion of Prof Hank, held its annual election on Friday evening. The ballot resulted as follows: president, Dr R G Rex; vice president, Mr D P Leahy; secretary (reelected) Dr F B Eaton; treasurer Mr G [illegible].

The membership of the association has steadily increased and now numbers 38, while several new names are yet pending election.

The executive committee will consider at an early day the advisability of issuing tickets of membership after the manner of foreign societies admitting holders of the same to the meetings and public lectures of the association.

It is purposed not only to secure the services of prominent scientific men but also at stated times to offer to the public a lecture by one of the members abundantly illustrated by the aid of the stereopticon and by suitable apparatus.

On next Friday evening Dr R G Rex will lecture before the association on the spectroscope exhibiting the instrument and demonstrating its practical use.

An Epidemic of Accidents.

It seems sometimes as if railway and steamboat accidents moved in cycles so regularly do they come and go. Some diseases also come and go in the same way, leaving in their track desolate homes and mourning hearts, but even these are surpassed in the agony of lingering torment by diseases which cause excruciating pain but do not kill. The bladder and kidneys are especially the seat of these troubles but the celebrated OREGON KIDNEY TEA, a purely vegetable remedy, will cure all such cases and is indeed a boon to the human race. Sold by all druggists.

CONSTIPATION and BILIOUSNESS succumb to that wonderful vegetable regulator GOLDEN BLOOD SYRUP.

FINNEN'S HAVANA CIGAR STORE

Has the largest and best selected stock of cigars in the city comprising New York, Key West and Imported Havanas. Call and be convinced that you can get a better article for a less price than at any other store in the city. No 1[illegible] First st, near Alder. Sole Agency for the Celebrated Kerbs and Spiess New York Cigars.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr Boschee's famous German prescription and is prepared with the greatest care and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER is a scientific combination of some of the most powerful restorative agents in the vegetable kingdom. It restores gray hair to its original color. It makes the scalp white and clean. It cures dandruff and humors and falling out of the hair. It furnishes the nutritive principle by which the hair is nourished and supported. It makes the hair moist, soft and glossy, and is unsurpassed as a hair dressing. It is the most economical preparation ever offered to the public, as its effects remain a long time making only an occasional application necessary. It is recommended and used by eminent medical men and officially indorsed by the State Assayer of Massachusetts. The popularity of Hall's Hair Renewer has increased with the test of many years both in this country and in foreign lands, and it is now known and used in all the civilized countries of the world. For sale by all dealers. Hodge Davis & Co Portland wholesale agents.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said "No man with a strong healthy stomach ever committed suicide," yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia when a single bottle of DR MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver, is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has [illegible] on outside wrapper. Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge Davis & Co Portland wholesale agents.

How to Save Money

Instead of going to a doctor if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great [illegible] pound. A GRAND BALL.

THE TURNERS' MASQUERADE LAST NIGHT.

Very Large Attendance--List of Maskers. The Prizes.

Of the large number of balls during this season, the masquerade under the auspices of the Social Turn Verein last night is entitled to the credit of being the best managed, the largest attended, and probably the most enjoyable. Every available portion of the hall was crowded with spectators who filled the seats on both sides of the main floor, on the stage and in the gallery, hardly sufficient room being left for the dancers. The costumes, both of the ladies and gentlemen, were noticeable for their richness and novelty, and it was a matter of no little difficulty for the committee to decide who were entitled to the prizes. The music, under the leadership of Prof. J. H. Brenner, was excellent, and added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. At 11 o'clock masks were removed and the following prizes awarded:

Best sustained lady's character--Silver goblet, Mrs. C. Parrish, East Portland; squaw.

Best sustained gentleman's character--Silver pitcher and goblet, Mr. G. S. Goiss; minister.

Most elegant lady's costume--Work basket, Miss Carrie Pape; Spanish dress.

Most comical gentleman's costume--Album, Mr. Theo. Oldendorf; fat boy.

The following is the list of maskers:

Miss Christian Wagner--Milk Girl.
Mr. Vose--Member of Portland Schutzen Verein.
Mrs. B. K. Knoll--Blind Orphan Girl.
Mr. C. E. Kayser--Zulu Chief.
H. Bach--Drum Major.
H. Franz--German student.
F. Schaefer--Oarsman.

Mrs. Kenline--Pink Domino.
Mrs. Howard--Turkish Prince.

AMUSEMENTS.

BARTON HILL

This accomplished actor received a most enthusiastic welcome from the audience who were present at the New Market Theater last night to witness his impersonation of Raphael Duchalet, in "The Marble Heart."

The grand dramatic treat that presented itself to those in attendance was something above and beyond any performance that we have had here for a long time before Barrett's arrival or since his departure. And we assert without fear of contradiction, that at no time in the dramatic history of Portland was there so unexceptionable a performance wherein the leading characters were so splendidly sustained as those of Raphael, Volage, Marco, Veaudore and Widow Duchalet in the performance of last night. Mr. Hill gave a finished and most artistic rendering of "Raphael," desponding and passionate as his love prompted him by turns. He had the full sympathy of his audience, and rounds of applause greeted him, culminating in a most vociferous call before the curtain at the end of the fourth act. In this honor Miss Adams shared, who, by the by, astonished her warmest friends with the intense emotional power she displayed as "Marco." The manager of the theater in announcing the engagement of Mr. Hill announces the "accomplished actor." The term, for once, is most aptly and fitly applied. Mr. Chaplin's "Volage" is one of the happiest personations we have given here. It was such a "Volage" as we have never before seen in Portland; and thus we say, with all due respect for the gentlemen who have essayed the part at any previous time here. Mr. Lindsey's "Veaudore" was careful, and in his hands acquired a prominence not generally given it. Miss Gertie Granville's "Marie" was played with becoming naivete and showed this popular lady to possess talent for pathetic parts almost in the same proportion as nature has endowed her for comedy. The other ladies and gentlemen of the company gave excellent support. To-night Shakespeare's grand tragedy of "Othello" will be produced with Mr. Hill as "Iago" and Mr. Chaplin as "Othello." We congratulate Manager John Maguire in adding this to the large number of first class attractions he has presented to the public of this city, and trust that he will be amply remunerated for his unflagging energy in this direction.

FIRE.--This morning at 20 minutes to 2 o'clock an alarm of fire was sounded from box No. 12. The department responded quickly. The residence of Mr. Mott, situated on the north side of Washington, between Fourth and Fifth was discovered in flames. The fire originated in the second story of the building, probably from a defective flue or an exploded lamp. Most of the household effects were removed from the building before the arrival of the engines. Columbian No. 3 got the first stream of water on the flames, which was followed by several others in quick succession. In a few minutes the fire was extinguished. Loss from fire and water will probably reach $300. So far as is known there is no insurance on either the building or contents. Much credit is due the firemen for their prompt and effective service.

REPORTED FAVORABLE.--A meeting of the committee on health and police was held last night to consider the ordinances relating to the suppression of prostitution and the other ordinance relating to vagrancy. The full committee, Nicklin, Gerdes and Watson were present at the meeting. After some discussion the committee agreed to report in favor of the passage of these ordinances with some amendments. As recommended it is thought the ordinances will pass.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS.--Last evening there was a regular meeting of the police commissioners. No business but the usual routine was transacted.

NEWS NOTES FROM EUGENE.

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENT.]

EUGENE CITY, Feb. 16, 1880.

Eugene City has one saloon less; cause, too much "blue ribbon" and hard times.

The Eugene City brass band have their new uniforms, and all paid for. The manner in which our citizens responded to their calls for aid must be very gratifying to the members of the band. The band has eleven members.

A reception committee has been appointed to meet the various delegations attending the State Temperance Alliance at the depot, and then march to the M. E. church and billet them according to arrangements already made.

The main question debated at our city council at its last meeting was that of "city rights;" the vote of a majority of the members confirmed the opinions of many of our citizens that we are a "kingdom" to ourselves. All that remains now for us to do is to get a pair of "gilt epaulettes" and set up a court that will in splendor equal that of the late "Emperor Norton."

The Laurean society in connection with the state university is the largest society of its kind on the north Pacific coast, and is still growing. The following officers were elected at the last meeting of the society for the ensuing term: President, Geo. Holland; vice president, W. J. McDaniel; secretary, W. L. Boise; sergeant-at-arms, Mr. Woody. These gentlemen are capable of governing the society, and will do much to promote its welfare

THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

The citizens of Jacksonville have subscribed $300 to the Irish relief fund.

Neff's distillery, in Jackson county, has turned out a barrel of tomato brandy.

The measles are raging at Phoenix. The district school is closed in consequence.

An attempt was made to have Reeves indicted by the grand jury for killing Joseph Hess in Chimney Rock precinct recently, but it was unsuccessful.

Linkville correspondence, 4th instant: As Seybert Nelson, a stock-raiser of Langell valley, was crossing Klamath lake on horseback on the ice, the surface gave way plunging him into the lake. They were both drowned before assistance could be rendered. The body has not been recovered as yet.

Jacksonville Times: As yet the farmer has accomplished little plowing and less seeding, so that, agriculturally speaking, Southern Oregon is away behindhand. The unfavorable weather, both in the autumn and up to the present time, has delayed farming operations; and unless a change for the better should take place soon crops will be late and perhaps short. Late rains may assist in increasing the yield, but the acreage will be less than anticipated last fall in almost any event. There is not a farmer in the valley who has more than fairly begun putting in his crop, while many have not even commenced seeding. As the season is somewhat advanced already, it will easily be seen that the prospects for large crops are none too favorable, though no fears of a total failure need be entertained by any means.

Eastern Washington.

George Sparks, a young man, while blasting a well on Alkali Flat, fell from top to bottom, a depth of sixty feet, and broke one leg. He is now hovering between life and death, but it is hoped that he will get over the shock and recover.

A Walla Walla paper says: "What are town lots held at in Walla Walla?" is a very common question, but you might as well ask the price of horses. You can get horses from $5 to $500 and upwards. So too with lots. Some are worth $50, and some $500, owing to locality, but on the outskirts of the city limits, lots, say 60x120 feet, suitable for residences, are usually worth from $75 to $100.

The Walla Walla Watchman of the 13th inst. says of the weather: It could not be better. The days are all like May days, but during the night it usually freezes a little. Last Tuesday night the mercury went down 10 degrees below freezing point, and the following day it went 14 degrees above it, making a difference in 12 hours of 24 degrees, yet the whole community enjoys the best of health. True, those cold nights are not the right thing for our young grain, but it's death on young hoppers. Farmers tell us they can't see any more. May be they are all dead. They laid their eggs in the wrong nest anyhow, but as for weather, we can beat the world, Italy and Lower California not excepted.

Mr. G. P. Litchfield and Uncle David Newsome are chosen as delegates from the M. E. church in Salem to the State Temperance Alliance at Eugene on the 18th inst.

U. S. Bonds--5s '81 106; 4½s 111⅛; 4s, 109¼. 4 P. M., 4s 81 106⅛.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.--Government as reached 107 to day.

Money easy, 5; governments strong active; W. U. 106½; Erie 47¼.

The week opens with a moderate degree of activity in trade circles, but no special features. Monetary matters move along in the ordinary channels with a good supply of available funds to meet the current demand, which is not extensive. Rates on loans are ten per cent. per annum to one per cent. per month. The latter is still demanded on short loans

The wires bring somewhat conflicting reports concerning the condition of the wheat trade abroad. Local buyers are doing a sort of hand to mouth business, as the prevailing disposition on the part of holders is to sell only as necessity requires, the general belief by them being that prices will improve before long. Transactions are made on the basis of $1 90 at this point for ordinary lots, with a chance for a slight deviation up or down as the wants of the purchaser or the good or bad quality of the commodity may determine. The tonnage market is supplied only in a limited sort of a way, shippers having but few vessels to choose from. Freights are steady, with some talk of an advance. Aside from breadstuffs the market shows no salient points. There are no offerings of wool, but enough is shown to indicate the expectation of an active trade when the season opens. Prices at the east are now higher than before for a long time, and the demand appears to be much in excess of the supply.

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS

Do you feel that any one of your organs--your stomach, liver, bowels, or nervous system, falters in its work? If so, repair the damage with the most powerful, yet harmless, of invigorants. Remember that debility is the "Beginning of the End"--that the climax of all weakness is a universal paralysis of the system, and that such paralysis is the immediate precursor of Death.

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE.

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER.

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS.

The genuine McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

LANDS,

PEN D'OREILLE DIVISION.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

Is now offering for sale nearly 5,000,000

Acres of its lands in the Pen d'Oreille Division in Eastern Oregon, which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the railroad as now located from the mouth of Snake River, in Washington Territory, to Lake Pen d'Oreille, in Idaho. These lands, of unexcelled fertility, and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired, are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation, causing a rapid growth in population of the country, and increase in value to those who now purchase.

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company, passed November 19th, 1879, fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre, which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company. This is, in fact, cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law, for the expense attending the making of final proof, and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry, is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company:

"Resolved, That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 60 per acre, with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting, surveying and conveying said land.

"This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands, nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber, nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites, nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs of other natural supply, where it shall be for the interest of settlers at large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual; nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road."

To persons wishing to purchase on time, the remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms: One fourth cash at time of purchase, the balance in three equal yearly payments at 7 per cent. interest. The above price for time sales is adopted for the present, but may be subject to change in the future.

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase, or "Settlers' Applications," as they are called, for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the land applied for, are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment, or time contract, for the same. For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied for, have no right to the first privilege of purchase; such lands will be sold to the first applicant. Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same, as after a given time the land is subject to sale to any other person.

The land in this division being now offered for sale, no more "Settlers' Applications" will be filed.

ANOTHER SUFFERER

Snatched from the Grave.

I THINK IT MY DUTY TO SUFFERING humanity to make the following statement: my wife's sufferings were unbearable, [illegible] the time, still she grew worse and worse, day still she was a mere skeleton. As a only resort, I was advised to consult Dr. VAN DEN BERGH, sr. I must say I had no hope in her ever getting relieved. The Doctor [illegible] very thorough examination, he said [illegible] sible to effect a cure in three months [illegible] worms were the cause of the [illegible] and the great distress and pain [illegible] also the female and nervous [illegible] miseries. After taking his medicine [illegible] days she commenced getting better [illegible] getting better and gained strength [illegible] of solid flesh during the treatment [illegible] the Doctor for saving my wife [illegible] grave and my little children from [illegible] For any further information [illegible] residence and see my wife herself [illegible] Fifth and Sherman streets.
